For 50 years, the University of California, Irvine has been a national and regional leader in the health sciences. From its early days — when the medical school came to campus and a medical center was acquired — to today’s Susan and Henry Samueli College of Health Sciences, with its world-class programs and facilities, UCI has been dedicated to training new generations of physicians and nurses, conducting breakthrough research and providing the finest patient care.